Sample Nominations

Award Type One: Community Involvement

Joe Jones is an all around great guy! He has been an altar server at St. Mary's Church for eight years and has helped at church fundraisers even hulling strawberries for the Strawberry Social! Whatever the sport he tried (football, wrestling and track & field) he always is the kid to give some tips to the younger and or less experienced kids so they can improve in that sport. Joe and his brother have been cutting wood for several years for a co-worker of his brothers that is incapacitated. His kindness begins at home by shoveling snow at his grandmothers and a neighbors without being asked to do so and feeds his brothers dog when his brother is out of town working. At Hemlock Fair he has volunteered for many hours at the 4-H food tent helping Ron Niedermaier. He can do any of the jobs needed but he also is laid back enough to instruct the younger kids in an easy going manner that does not intimidate. When Joe showed animals at the fairs, the younger kids would come up to him and ask him for advice, which he would give or show them what they needed to do. Joe was the June Student of the Month due to his strong work ethic and kindness to others at Geneseo Valley Career Partnership.

Award Type Two: Leadership

Mary Smith is a genuine role model for others in Ossian as well as all of Livingston County. She is a shining and outstanding example of true commitment to volunteerism leading by example in all she is involved in. Mary is a member of the Livingston County 4-H Teen Council where she serves as the vice-president. In Teen Council, Mary has been involved in the 4-H Gingerbread Project for Dansville's Winter in the Village. She has also gone with 4-H teens to the Livingston County Nursing Home to play games with the residents. Mary is involved with a County 4-H pony club and independently focuses on horses. At the Genesee Valley Horse Races, Mary volunteered giving pony races to the public. Mary is a member of the Dansville High School National Honor Society. For her community service she has been cleaning the Ossian Town Hall. During this past Labor Day weekend, Mary and her swimming team made and served breakfast to the public. Mary has helped with Dansville Sunshine Softball for three years working with younger players demonstrating her athletic and leadership skills. Mary is a member of the Dansville High School Band where she plays flute. She is a member of St. Mary's Young Adult Faith Formation where she was involved with Project Christmas giving gifts to children in need. An inspiration to us all, Mary surrounds her life in kindness, as she is involved giving to the ill, needy and elderly and encouraging and leading others. Mary is quiet upon approach with a very sweet manner and beautiful smile. She is eager and passionate in whatever she engages in yet always aware and encouraging of others. Ossian is proud to have a young lady such as Mary who leads by example with character, enthusiasm, determination, and devotion. Whatever path she chooses, others will be blessed to have her as part of their team.

Award Type Three: Positive Influence on Others While Overcoming a Challenge

Jane Jones has been through a lot in her life. She has never known her father and her mother has been in and out of jail for Jane's whole life. She lived with her brother and his father for a time and would roam the streets of the city of Chicago when she was four years old. She then went to live with her grandparents. Her grandparents gave her up at the age of 10 and she went to live with her mom. That situation did not work and she ended up in a foster care home. From there she had a choice at the age of 11 to be adopted by a teacher or go live with her uncle. She chose family and that is where she remains today. She feels that because of all the negativity around her people expected her to take the wrong path. In order to prove them wrong she intentionally remained in school and on the path toward a better life. She feels that what she has gone through has made her independent and very level headed. She is able to weigh her options when confronted with a choice and able to see the big picture, which is fantastic for one so young. People admire her; I know I do, for all she has achieved despite her background. Friends come to her for her insight and her ability to put their lives in perspective for them. Her future includes the National Guard - training in South Carolina and then AIT in Virginia. After that she plans on going to a two-year college and then transferring. She would love to find work in the nutrition and psychology fields. Jane sums her life up with this statement: One needs to take what happens to them and learn from it. She is an amazing individual!
